URBANE SUB URBANE the EURO the ILANEWAY.

Experience is our total wine philosophy.

We established this comprehensive cellar list with a clear purpose – we want you to have a great dining experience with us.

Our wine team take great pride in finding your favourite wine or alternatively something new for you to enjoy. Due to the rare nature of some wines, we may have only limited quantities. The absence of a price indicates that a wine is not available.

WINE SPOTLIGHT

DE BEAUREPAIRE, RYLSTONE, NSW

DE BEAUREPAIRE

RYLSTONE

A taste of France in Australia

Family-owned, single-vineyard French-style wines

De Beaurepaire Wines is a family-owned single-estate producer of boutique French-style wines. Their 53 hectare (131 acre) vineyard, one of the largest privately owned vineyards in NSW, is located on the hills above the picturesque and historic town of Rylstone - 40 minutes from Mudgee, 1.5 hours from Leura/Katoomba – in the Central Ranges of NSW.

Similar terroir to Burgundy and Champagne

Great wine is made in the vineyard and it all starts with 'terroir' - the climate and soil. The vineyard has stony, sandy-loam soils on limestone bedrock. This combined with a very cool continental climate creates an exceptional Australian 'terroir' (and the most similar in Australia to Burgundy and Champagne) for producing naturally-balanced flavours, acids and sugars in their wines.

Their boutique wines are handcrafted from individually selected parcels of grapes, all sourced from the vineyard. They seek to create wines with structure, elegance and food friendliness inspired by their Burgundian heritage (the De Beaurepaire family originates from the little Burgundian country town of Beaurepaire-en-Bresse).

Their range includes multi-award winning and internationally recognised white, rosé, red, sparkling and dessert wines.

AMATO VINO

MARGARET RIVER, WESTERN AUSTRALIA & RIVERLAND, SOUTH AUSTRALIA

AMATO VINO

ARTISAN WINEMAKERS | MARGARET RIVER

Amato Vino are small batch, artisan winemakers. Hands on in terms of the grunt work, the care and guidance, but with a hands off approach to the science of winemaking, utilising mostly traditional processes. An old school approach yet with a modern flare for creativity and adventure.

The winemaking philosophy is lo-fi, in that we embrace wild ferments, little or no adjustments in the winery, minimal handling. We use mostly older oak so that there are no distractions to the fruit expression of the wines/varieties from the regions/vineyards they grow, and utilise some unconventional fermentation and maturation vessels including clay amphorae.

LETHBRIDGE

GEELONG, VICTORIA

LETHBRIDGE

There are few tales as impressive as that of Lethbridge Wines. Ray Nadeson and Maree Collis were both successful medical researchers before succumbing to their desire to create a vineyard and winery in Geelong. They planted vines on their own rootstocks, built a straw-bale winery and house, and farmed the land according to biodynamic beliefs. Their wines are powerful, structured, pure and long-lived.

GIN

Vodka for grown-ups.

Since the prohibition era, (1920-1933) Gin has remained one of the world's most popular spirits. Gin has the versatility of vodka however gin can bring more flavour into the equation. Gin gains most of its flavour through Juniper berries. Although mostly associated with London and the UK. Gin actually has its beginnings with the much older Dutch spirit Jenever, which became popular in the UK during the reign of William I of Orange. (1689-1702)

From this base British distillers established a period called the Gin Craze (1695-1735) when thousands of micro distillers started production. The most notable being Plymouth which can trace continuous production back to 1690's.

The 19th century saw rise new distilling methods, and London Dry Gin was created which today is by far the most successful and most produced style of gin produced the world over.

Especially in London, the modern day Mecca for Gin lovers.

MARTINI

Like most cocktails the origin of the martini is debated, there are two 'accepted' theories. In 1863 an Italian vermouth company rebranded themselves Martini after their founder Alessandro Martini and the brand name may be the source of the cocktail name.

The other popular theory is the drink is derived from the cocktail Martinez which was drunk commonly in San Francisco in the 1860's.

The Martini is the Gin drinkers drink. It can be served a number of ways, with the taste vastly varying depending on the drinkers' choice of gin, style and garnish.

The Kangaroo is the original name for the Vodka Martini, traditionally served dry or dirty the name was published in the legendary 1948 bartending book, The fine art of mixing drinks by David Embury.

RUM

Drinking Rum before 10am makes you a Pirate, not an Alcoholic.

Rum was first recorded as early as the 14th century when Marco Polo noted drinking a 'wine made from sugar' on his return from China in modern day Iran.

The modern concept of Rum originates in the Caribbean and has a dark history of the slave trade. It was one of the sugar plantations in Barbados that the spirit was first produced by using the by-products of sugar, molasses.

Rum has since had a relationship with the British Empire and was integral in the only military rebellion in Australia the 'Rum Rebellion' of 1810.

Rum can be categorised into three main groups, White rum, Aged rum, Gold rum and Dark Navy rum. Gold, aged rum is White rum that has been aged in oak casks for a number of years, so the spirit takes on some of the colour and flavour of the oak.

WHISK(E)Y/BOURBON

Too much of anything is bad, but too much good whiskey is barely enough.

Whisky is a distilled spirit produced from grain, this can be Barley, most common in Scotch whisky production, Corn, Rye and Wheat. Although produced all over the world Scotland has become the epicentre and benchmark for whisky production especially with barley and wheat. Bourbon is American whiskey that is produced using at least 51% corn and then aged in charred barrels to give Bourbon its characteristic burnt sweetness.

Most recently Japan has moved into the mainstream Whisky market, Japan has a long history of production, dating back to the 19th century but its only in the last 25 years that the Whiskies have become more well known in the west.

THE OLD FASHIONED

This most classic of classic cocktails came from humble beginnings. Originally named the simple 'Whiskey cocktail', the classic Bourbon whiskey old fashioned became increasingly popular by the 1840's. By the 1870's bartenders started to experiment by adding new flavours and spirits into the mix such as Chartreuse, Absinthe maraschino and curacao. However over recent decades these have been stripped off this classic cocktail to go back to its roots.

An Old Fashioned is simply a double measure of a spirit, traditionally Bourbon, diluted with Angostura bitters and sugar, and stirred down with ice for an extended period of time.

Today an Old Fashioned is still one of the world's most popular cocktails, traditionally made on Bourbon Whiskey or Scotch Whisky however the 2000's have created some modern classics with old Fashioned's made on Rum, Tequila, and even Gin.

Of course feel free to order an Old Fashioned on whichever spirit you would prefer however if you are unsure please select from our list of favourite old fashioned's.
